Harbor Research Room Handbook

Opening hours and access

The fictional Harbor Research Room opens at 09:00 and closes at 17:00 from Monday through Friday. The room is closed on Saturday and Sunday. Visitors sign the paper register at reception before using a desk. A day visitor may reserve one desk for up to three hours. These details describe an invented organization for software testing, not an actual public service.

Equipment loans

The Harbor Research Room lends portable recorders for seven calendar days. A borrower may hold at most two recorders at once. The recorder loan must be returned to the reception desk before closing time on the due date. The handbook edition states that the daily late-return fee is two credits. This edition has not been reconciled with the later Harbor Operations Notice. Credits are fictional accounting units.

Study visits

A group study visit requires a reservation at least five working days in advance. The room can host twelve visitors in one group. A facilitator should send the group size and preferred date to the reception team. The handbook does not specify travel reimbursement, staff salaries, or emergency medical procedures. This document contains no employee contact addresses.
